The GreenwoodDogPound.com is one of the best high school athletic websites I have ever seen. It covers all sports and is presented in a very professional manner. People from all over the country have commented to me about how great our site is. It has great pictures and stories as well as up to date stats and scores. It is a wonderful communication tool as well as a great source of information about our players and our athletic program here at Greenwood. Brian does a fantastic job putting it all together and has always done his best to showcase our kids and program in a very positive manner. I encourage everyone to support the GreenwoodDogPound.com in every possible way.
